JAP SOLDIERS HIT AT FRENCH IN NEW CRISIS

Member Of French Police Is Roughly Handled By Nipponese

BRITISH POLICE SLUGGED BY JAPS

English Press Hints Relations May Be Severed

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 8. — Japanese soldiers trained rifles and a machine gun on French troops in the French concession for an hour today and rough-handled a member of the French police in the second critical incident in international areas of Shanghai in two days.

Two British soldiers were beaten yesterday.

British Commander Major General A. P. Telfer-Smollet protested the British incident, and French officials were strongly considering a formal protest to Japanese today.

Chinese Woman Starts It

The belligerent show of force began today after a Chinese woman crossed into the French zone from the native district, Nantao, to obtain water.

Japanese prohibit departure from Nantao, and a Japanese sentry ran after the woman. He seized and struck her, said the French.

A policeman in the concession, of Russian nationality, intervened. He was struck in the face. Other Japanese soldiers rushed in at once, and started to drag the policeman across the boundary into Nantao.

The policeman slipped loose, whereupon nearly 100 of the Japanese troops gathered at the concession boundary and pointed rifles and a machine gun at the armed and indignant French troops.

Two armored cars rushed reinforcements.

Reach Agreement

While the potential fighters faced each other tensely, French Consul Pierre Auge took up the matter with the Japanese consul.

They reached an agreement which for the moment ended the incident with withdrawal of the troops.

The British policemen were slugged by Japanese soldiers in an asserted invasion of the British defense zone of the International settlement.

Telfer-Smollett was reported to have warned Japanese military officials that a recurrence might bring "gravest consequences."

(Rough handling of the policemen provoked sharp press criticism of Japan in London. The Daily Express went so far as to predict that diplomatic relations might be severed by Britain. The foreign office awaited an official report.

Out of Control

(The Express said the "usual apology" merely would cross any British protests. The Telegraph and Morning Post stressed that lack of control over the Japanese military was a contributing factor.

(Reuters, British news agency, reported in a Shanghai dispatch that Japanese marines had occupied the British-owned New Asia hotel in the International Settlement, and that two Union Jacks were hauled down.)

Meanwhile, the fury of the war centered 400 miles to the northwest of Shanghai along the east-west Lunghai railway, China's "last line of defense."

Japanese reported capture of Tsowhsien in their southward drive through Shantung province, designed to win control of the railway.

DuPonts Object to Book, File $150,000 Libel Action

Irenee, Lammot and Pierre duPont

Libel action for $150,000 has been taken by the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., munitions makers of Wilmington, Del., against the author and publisher of the new book, "America's 60 Families". The author is Ferdinand Lundberg, the publisher, Vanguard Press. A complaint specifying passages in the book to which the company objects was to be filed. The "big three" of the duPonts are pictured. They are Irenee, left, vice chairman of the board of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co.; Lammot, center, president of the company and chairman of the board of General Motors corporation, and Pierre S., chairman of the board of the de Nemours & Co. The book asserts that the "United States is owned and dominated today by a hierarchy of its 60 richest families, buttressed by more than 90 families of less worth." The duPont family is ranked eighth on the list of 60 mentioned.

Final Hearing On Naturalization To Be Held In April

LISBON, Jan. 8. — Twenty-one aliens passed preliminary citizenship examinations Thursday Thursday and Friday in the courthouse, conducted by Allen Pruitt, representing the Pittsburgh office of the department of immigration and naturalization. A class of 42 was originally scheduled for the quiz.

Those qualifying for the final hearing in April include six from East Liverpool and five from Salem. They are: East Liverpool — Anna Sfakis, Mrs. Elizabeth Goodwin, Ben Glogar, Cyril Ernest Toft, Yohnko Orsock and Julius Theis. Salem—Martin Weber, John Migliarini, Vera Matthews, Henreich Heidewreich and John Bojnansky.

Aliens from other sections of the county taking and passing the examination incluae Dominico Viscoglosi, Pasquale Frontone and Jane Scarratt, Wellsville; Frank Conci and Victor Gibas, Liverpool township; Mrs. Mary Leskovjanski and Ben Vokovich, Madison township; Ivan Jugastru, Perry township; Pietro Bertoli, Yellow Creek township; Louisa Tomaccio, East Palestine.

SALEM KIWANIS AT COLUMBIANA

Officers of Five Northern Columbiana Clubs Inducted at Joint Installation

Officers of five northern Columbiana county Kiwanis clubs were inducted at a joint installation ceremony last night at Columbiana with Marion Dietrich of Cleveland, lieutenant governor of the sixth Kiwanis division, as chief installing officer.

More than 100 Kiwanians were present, representing clubs in Salem, Lisbon, Leetonia, East Palestine and the host city, Columbiana.

Harold M. Williams, Salem High school principal, who succeeds John C. Litty as president of the Salem club, officially took over reins of office last night. Also installed were Dr. C. J. Lehwald, vice president; Treasurer G. W. McKee and Secretary F. J. Wise, beginning their third consecutive terms; and members of the board of directors.

Special honors were accorded to two veteran Columbiana county Kiwanians—Warren Brown of Salem and Clark Marshall of Leetonia, both of whom have attended regular club meetings without a miss in 14 years.

Each was presented with a 14-year pin by Pete Land of Akron, Ohio district secretary, the presentation coming as a surprise to the two men.

The meeting was also the first official session for Carl Willman of the Salem club, Tenth division lieutenant governor who succeeds Att'y Robert E. Hall of Lisbon. Willman was inducted at Ohio district installation ceremonies recently at Galion when Governor P. E. Auer was seated.

No Place To Meet

TIFFIN, Jan. 8.—The Ohio United Spanish War Veterans 1938 convention looked today for a meeting place. Tiffin members withdrew their offer to be hosts, announcing they were unable to finance arrangements.

Fined In Lisbon

LISBON, Jan. 8.—Joseph Kusior of West Point, arrested on the Lincoln highway Friday night by Deputies Otto Stacey and Mike Duty on a reckless driving charge, was fined $25 and costs by Justice M. K. Zimerman.

Three Are Injured In Auto Accidents

Three Lisbon men were hurt in two separate traffic accidents late yesterday and brought to Salem hospitals.

William DeGarmo, 68, of W. Lincoln way, Lisbon, struck at a street intersection in Lisbon by an auto driven by K. R. Coppock of Winona, was brought to the Central Clinic, where he was found to have suffered facial cuts and possible internal injuries.

Steve Mandick, 32, and Louis Mandick, 24, of Lisbon, received face lacerations when their automobile left the highway on the Lisbon road Friday afternoon and hit a telephone pole. They were treated at Salem City hospital.

Louis Mandick was driving.

'BACK-TO-WORK' IS AUTO TREND

Chrysler, Ford And Hudson Plants To Recall Men

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Jan. 8. — A back-to-work trend in the automobile industry was under way today after holiday layoffs.

The Chrysler Corp. announced last night that the 55,000 persons who were working in its plants at the time of the curtailment Dec 23 will return Tuesday.

It did not state whether the resumption of operations would be on the normal 40-hour week or the 32-hour schedule placed in effect for those who remained on duty after Dec. 23.

The Hudson Motor Car Co. said this week that it would "put money and men back to work" in announcing the expenditure of $11,000,000 for raw materials and equipment to begin immediate production of a new car in the low-price field.

It said it would increase its workers from 6,000 to 12,000 within the next few weeks, adding $1,250,000 a month to its factory payroll.

The Ford Motor Co. said that less than 25,000 of the 87,000 workers at its mammoth Rouge plant in Dearborn are idle now, and that it "hopes" to have all of them back around Jan. 17. It was reported just before Christmas that only half of the Rouge plant force was working, but a company executive indicated many of these have been recalled since the holidays.

General Motors Corp. has not revealed when it will recall the 30,000 employes it announced on Dec. 28 would be laid off because of the "recession in business." At that time it placed the remaining 205,000 production workers on a 24-hour week.

Township School Officers Listed

LISBON, Jan. 8.—Two additional township boards of education have reported new officers to County Superintendent W. E. Roberts.

S. N. Kroetzer heads the Yellow Creek township board. R. J. Stern is vice president and Ben Hipsley, clerk. All officers live on R. D. 1 Wellsvile. Other members are Harold Leatherberry and Daniel Saint, also R. D. 1 Wellsville and J. W. Barker, R. D. Irondale.

The Wayne township board has chosen N. R. Benner, Salineville R. D. 3, president. Olin Dodd, Lisbon R. D. 1, is vice president and Bert Davis, Lisbon R. D. 1, clerk. Other members are Merlin Todd, C. E. Welch and Frank Fleming, all Lisbon R. D. 1.

DEMOCRATS TO RALLY TONIGHT

Will Honor Andrew Jackson—And Reduce The Party's Deficit

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Thousands of Democrats will pay $25 to $100 for dinner tonight to honor Andrew Jackson—and to reduce their partys $211,295 deficit.

Members of the Democratic national committee, which entered the new year that sum in the red, said they had hopes the entire deficit might be wiped out.

The dinners on the anniversay of Jackson's victory in the battle of New Orleans, will bring speeches from most of the partys leaders President Roosevelt will address the dinner here.

Cummings "Honor Guest"

Attorney General Cummings will be "guest of honor" and principal speaker at the dinner in Chicago, Secretary Woodring in Denver, Secretary Wallace in Des Moines, Secretary Ickes in Nashville, Tenn., Secretary Roper in Columbus, O., and Postmaster General Farley in New York.

President Roosevelt's address will be broadcast (all chains) at 9:30 p. m. E. S. T. and those at other dinners throughout the country will hear him.

Those attending the dinner in Washington will pay $100 each, those in New York City $50 each, and those in other parts of the country $25 each.

Officials of the Democratic national committee say that $5 from each diner covers the cost of the dinner. The remainder will go to help retire the party's deficit.

Ohioans to Rally

COLUMBUS, Jan. 8.—Democrats from all sections of Ohio gathered here today for the state's annual Jackson day banquet, a $25-a-plate affair.

State Democratic headquarters announced that at least 500 party members would attend to hear Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper and Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Former Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Ohio Democratic national committeeman, prepared a speech for publication in the event he is not invited to address the diners.

He had been informed there would be no place available for him on the speaking program.

Sawyer is expected to be a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in August and it has been reported reliably that Governor Davey would seek renomination.

50 WITNESSES TO BE QUIZZED BY GRAND JURY

Resumption Of Gambling Investigation Is Questionable

MAY DEPEND ON JUDGE'S CHARGE

"Red" Probe Is Awaiting Recommendations Of U. S. Agent

LISBON, Jan. 8.—Approximately 50 witnesses are expected to testify before the grand jury when that body convenes here Monday morning to consider charges against at least 16 individuals.

Prosecutor Karl Stouffer indicated Friday that the probe would probably consume the entire week. Questioned regarding further investigation of gambling activities in the county, initiated by the September grand jury, Stouffer declined to commit himself.

Await Judge's Charge

"The judge's charge to the jury may cover that angle of its work," the prosecutor stated.

Further investigation of alleged communistic activities in the county will depend to a large extent on the recommendations of the department of justice, attaches of the office declared. A special secret agent has been delving into reported "subversive acts" by "Red" agents in the county and his report has been forwarded to Washington for consideration by authorities there.

One additional transcript, of a Salem case, was filed Friday and another, involving a Wellsville man, is expected to reach authorities not later than Monday. The Salem man is Jay Bailey, accused of forging a $7.50 check. He was arrested Thursday on complaint of William Hawkins, also of Salem.

Three Cases Disposed Of

Three cases originally listed for grand jury action have been disposed of by court action. W. H. Burbick, Beloit R. D. 2, pleaded guilty last week to a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $75 and costs. Joseph Murphy and Leo Davidson, Wellsville, were ordered committed to the penitentiary as parole violators.

Murphy and Davidson were taken to Columbus Wednesday where they are serving one to 15 year sentences. Their probation was revoked following their arrest on a charge of breaking into a filling station.

FLAMES LEVEL ROGERS HOME

William Cross, 19, East Palestine, Burned In West Point Fire

LISBON, Jan. 8.—One man was burned in one of two fires in nearby rural areas early today.

Loss in a fire which destroyed the seven-room house of Rev. Samuel Phillips, Negro, located one-half mile south of Rogers, at 8 a. m., was placed at $6,000.

A defective flu caused the blaze and the structure burned to the ground before any furniture could be saved. Rev. Phillips preaches at a Baptist tabernacle in Youngstown. Neither he nor his family was injured.

William Cross, 19, of East Palestine, suffered burns about the face when trapped in a flaming gasoline shed on the Charles Bough farm one mile west of West Point, at 2 a. m. today.

The farm is being stripped for coal by John Gallow and Cross went into the shed to get gasooline with which to operate a motor. The lantern he was carrying ignited the 100 gallons of gas stored in the shed. Cross was burned, not seriously, however, before he could get out.

The shed burned to the ground and flames also destroyed a chicken coop nearby. The chickens were liberated in time. Cross was treated by a Lisbon physician.

Rob Finance Co.

ARREST MAN IN SLAYINGS NEAR N. LIMA

W. Virginia Police Seize Suspect Who Resembles Farmhand

BULLETIN
(By Associated Press)

BELINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Chief of Police D. L. Ervin announced the arrest today of a man he said answered the description of a farmhand wanted for questioning in the slaying of Henry Baumeister and two others near North Lima, O., Tuesday.

Ervin turned the suspect over to state police at Philippi, who contacted Ohio officials.

At the same time, Sheriff J. N. Ferman of Barbour county said at Philippi he did not believel the suspect was the wanted farmhand.

Police of three states and federal agents have cooperated in the search for the slayer of Baumeister, his wife and his father.

EIGHT ARRESTED IN DYNAMITING

Two Of Them Accused Of Murder In Deaths Of Three Children

(By Associated Press)

ELIZABETHTOWN, Tenn., Jan. 8—Eight persons were jailed today—two on murder charges—in the investigation of a dynamite blast that wrecked a home and killed three children.

Deputies arrived here from Pikeville, Tenn., with two men Sheriff J. M. Moreland said are charged with murder. The sheriff named them as White Tollett and Lee Walker, and said a murder warrant had been issued for Crave Tollett, a brother of White.

Five other men and a woman also are being detained for questioning but no formal charges have been placed against them and their names were not disclosed.

Sheriff Moreland said he was working on a theory the dynamiting yesterday of the Harmon Gouge home near here was linked with a slaying in 1936 in connection with which Gouge, father of the victims, is awaiting trial.

The sheriff offered a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of those guilty of the dynamiting which left the Gouge home a pile of splintered wood and killed the children, Sonia, 9, Luena, 7, and Roma Jean Gouge, 5. Mrs. Gouge, the mother of the children, was injured seriously.

T. B. Tests For High Students Planned

The board of health today announced plans for giving tuberculosis tests to all Salem High school Seniors who want the examination.

The tests will be started in about three weeks, at the conclusion of examinations now being conducted in the lower grades. Examination of third and fourth grade pupils in all grade schools, except McKinley and St. Paul's, has been under way for the past three weeks.

Testing of third and fourth grade pupils at the two remaining grade schools will begin Monday, Health Commissioner R. T. Holzbach said. Miss Frances Markovich, health nurse, also has charge of the examinations.

The test, they point out, is a simple, harmless skin test which shows whether or not there are tuberculosis bacilli in the body. It does not tell how many or where they are located in the body. This is determined by the use of X-ray.

May Clarify Government Relations In Jackson Day Talk

INDUSTRY STILL IN UNEASY STATE

Can't Forget Harsh Utterances By Ickes And Jackson

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—President Roosevelt's Jackson day dinner speech tonight may clarify administration policy as to future government relations with business.

Mr. Roosevelt has given no hint of what subject he intends to take, but there was speculation that he might decide it was a fitting occasion for further enunciation of his views toward business.

It was recalled that in his message to congress last Monday he said while discussing monopoly:

"The work undertaken by Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson is not finished yet."

Industry Confused

The past two weeks admittedly left industrial leaders confused despite the evidence of a conciliatory attitude most observers found in the President's two messages to congress and recent press conference statements.

This uncertainty was attested yesterday by Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in testimony before the senate unemployment committee.

Wood said the President's opening message to congress had been "reassuring", but that "business doesn't know what to expect" in view of previous speeches by Secretary Ickes and Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson. In harsh language, Ickes and Jackson accused business of going "on strike" against the government.

Asked by Chairman Byrnes (D-SC), if he would not be more inclined to accept the President's statement, Wood replied in the affirmative, but indicated he still had doubts about the administration's attitude toward business.

Clarification Asked

One point on which many expressed a desire for clarification was the Presidents press conference suggestion for round table discussions between business and government to plan production.

The general idea of business-government discussions, however, has been widely approved.

Senator Byrnes said today he believed "friendly" conferences would help materially in solving the unemployment problem and in promoting a business upturn.

Senator Davis (R-Penn) added, in a radio speech, a call for discussions which would give the government 'the benefit of labor and business brains" in attacking the recession.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said public sentiment was growing more favorable toward his bill to license corporations doing interstate business, as a curb on monopoly.

"We are gradually making it clear to the country," he said, "that the purpose is not to broaden government meddling, but to eradicate it by adopting the principle of government by law instead of by men.'

Methodist Pastors Book Club To Meet

A meeting of the Methodist Ministers Book club of the county, a recently formed organization, will be held Monday in the Lisbon M. E. church. The group, which meets the second Monday of each month in the Lisbon church, enjoys an interesting program from 10:15 a. m. until noon when a fellowship dinner is served.

Meetings are open to any who to attend and Methodist urch members are especially welcome. Programs include a review of some outstanding devotional work and one of an exceptionally good current piece.

Solons To Discuss Soft Water Plans

The proposed municipal water softener plant for Salem will be discussed by city council at a private session Monday night in council chambers.

Mayor George Harroff and City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff will confer with councilmen on the matter. The object of the meeting is to familiarize all council members with the proposal.

"What's $700?" Is Columbus Lawyer's Query

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Taxpayers Have Been Taken For More Than That, Says Goggin

COLUMBUS, Jan. 8.—Attorney W. J. Goggin asserted today he had no objection to explaining his association with H. F. Steele, Columbus hardware salesman, to a special senate graft-hunting committee.

Naturally I'll give an explanation of my association with Steele," he said, commenting on Steele's testimony before the committee that his business with the state, which once totaled $50,000 annually, dropped to $8,000 after he quit paying "commissions" to Goggin.

"I'm just an ant in the whole setup. What if I did get $700 from Steele? That's nothing compared to the millions they say have been taken from taxpayers."

The committee indicated Thursday night it would recall Goggin, who refused to answer questions then on the ground that they were an invasion of "strictly personal issues." He also challenged the legal right of the committee to function.

Committee members declined to discuss today when their next public hearing would be held.

Denying in an interview that he had "influence" with either Gov. Marin L. Davey or Francis W. Poulson, state Democratic chairman, Goggin said he was Steele's attorney for nine months and "if the boy is dissatisfied, it's his fault, not mine."

Goggin declared that Steele "chiseled" during the administration of Govs. Vic Donahey, Myers Y. Cooper and George White, but added: "He's a nice fellow."

Governor Davey, meantime, declined comment on whether he would approve a $40,000 appropriation to finance the senate inquiry if it is approved by the house, but he declared he had no intention of forcing an adjournment of the legislature, because he wanted prompt action n requested supplemental appropriations for state departments.

Registers For WPA

LISBON, Jan. 8.—Robert L. Wilcox, representing the National Re-Employment Service, will be at the courthouse Jan. 13 to register WPA applicants.

WPA regulations require registration with the NRS before a man may be certified as eligible for WPA work. Certification is in charge of H. A. Moore of East Liverpool.

ELEMENTARY PHYSICS

This is a good time to remember a law of elementary physics—that all men must get into their pants one leg at a time, unless they sit down to put them on.

The importance of this rule at the moment is that it applies to politicians who, it so happens, are showing signs of getting ready to claim once more that they can do superhuman feats, like jumping into their pants two legs at once with the greatest of ease.

Don't be fooled till you see them do it. Above all else, don't make the mistake of paying to see them do it in advance. Make them prove their skill first; when that happens demagoguery will become one of the lost arts. It won't pay for itself any more.

President Roosevelt, pursuing his admirable intention to abolish poverty in the United States (see Messrs. Coolidge, Hoover, Harding, Wilson, Taft, Roosevelt I et al about this) has promised to raise the national income to $100,000,000,000, which will put everybody in clover, balance the budget, pay off the debt and make a happy ending. Mr. Roosevelt says "we have raised the nation's income from $38,000,000,000 in the year 1932 to about $68,000,000,000 in 1937," thus implying that the project already is well under way.

It is submitted that this is an open and shut case of promising to jump into a pair of pants, both legs at once, from a standing position. Not that 100 billion dollars is too lofty a goal—no, far from that it doesn't begin to be high enough. In 1929, the national income was $84,000,000,000, which represented only $692 per capita, far from being enough to abolish poverty at the prices prevailing then. With prices up again and a greater population, a national income of 150 billion would be none too great.

But it isn't the figure that matters. It's the ridiculousness of naming a figure—any figure—as though that were enough. Mr. Roosevelt doesn't even hint how national income is going to be increased except insofar as a hint is given in the implication that it can be done by following his leadership.

This sort of thing is being done everywhere on earth; it's an old, universal custom. Politicians have been promising to jump into their pants for thousands of years—and never doing it. Yet, because it promises to be a good trick if they ever do accomplish it, the public waits goggle-eyed for something that's never going to take place. At a time like this, when the temptation to make the pants-jumping promise is growing stronger than usual, as it did in 1932, it's a good idea to remember that politicians aren't superhuman; they just claim they are.

SUCCESS WITHOUT VICTORY

The President was soundly whipped in his fight to "pack" the supreme court but the natural course of events has given him success in the aims he sought.

Retirement of Associate Justice George Sutherland, one of the most unbending of the court's conservatives, gives Mr. Roosevelt the opportunity to appoint a successor whose views are more in line with those of the administration. This brings to the court a clearcut "liberal" majority.

Thus is brought about in orderly, constitutional fashion a situation which should be satisfactory to the President and one which no doubt satisfies the intentions of the framers of the Constitution.

It is not a good thing to have one branch of the government at odds with the other branches by any overwhelming margin. Neither is it a good thing to have the three branches so completely in accord that they will not act independently.

President Roosevelt now has a congress of his own party and a court with a majority which thinks along the same general lines with himself. Congress has shown its independence and there is every reason to believe that the court will continue to do its own thinking.

Thus, without victory in his fight, the President attains success in his aims without disturbing the constitutional balance of the court. It should satisfy both the President and those who insisted so strenuously that orderly procedure under the Constitution must be maintained.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, January 9

Sunday's horoscope holds auguries or a fairly active day in both private life and employment. In all, however, there is need for adopting a conciliatory tone, especially with superiors and those in authority. In social affiliations also it might be advisable to maintain amiable relations.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to enjoy a fairly active year, with new undertakings favored. But in employment and in dealing with superiors and those in power, deal tactfully and do not run counter to authority.

A child born on this day may be active and enterprising and inclined to work "on its own", rather than in employment.

For Monday, January 10

Monday's astrological forecast is for a particularly lively day, with the mental faculties alert and looking for fresh and quick outlets for expression.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great activity and some brilliant opportunities if they will apply their keen minds to achieving solid denouements, rather than flash gambles, speculation and quick profits. Over-expansive and inflationary schemes may be detrimental.

A child born on this day may have excellent talents and much versatility, with large ambitions. These, however, may be defeated by overacting and extravagances in thought, behavior and expenditure.

O. O. McINTYRE
NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—This will be one of those slap-happy efforts. Like plucking the scraps from a rag bag and weaving them into something or other. And, by the way, the old patchwork quilt has been revived. Many's the beautiful work of this patient art I've shivered under.

As a logolept, I still delight in those classic old quilt names, patterns of which were known to thousands on farms and at county fairs. Such as The Rail Fence, The Churn Dash, Young Ladies Ramble and The Goose Chase. Most popular was the log cabin, 21 pieces to the square.

How many family memories were pieced into those quilts! A chink of father's necktie, ditto mother's wedding dress, Elizabeth's green party frock and Aunt Dora's best sateen. And always that bit of lavender plaid from little Patience's Sunday best, in which she was buried.

In the office of Kenneth Collins, a large department store executive, hangs a framed quotation from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "'What will you have?' quoth God. Take It and Pay for It." Anyone applying this lesson can throw away his "You Can" books and plow through the world to triumph.

Most people have noticed that Helen Keller is always photographed from her right side. When younger there was a question in the minds of friends whether or not to have a blemish on her cheek removed and it was finally decided it might cause her mental anguish to tell her about it. The same council of friends persuaded her never to marry.

An idee fixe in the movies is the framed photograph. Always a huge face taken front view in the best commercial manner. Never a portrait by Genthe or Steinlen, never a face with a soul. But a staring exhibitionist and always in a wide silver frame on the southwest corner for the movie star to snatch up and swoon over. This is what the movie directors call "Suggestion."

Beauty hint: There's no doubt that even better than a nail file, the most effective instrument for cleaning the nails is the serrated edge of a folded newspaper. But don't let anyone catch you doing it. It characterizes you as what Gelett Burgess calls a bripkin. And is one of the subway pastimes.

A human reminder of a time when the legitimate theatre flourished is the jovial millionaire Frank Vance Storrs and his block long black limousine with the snow white doors. When the Rialto had more than 90 theatres running full blast, Storrs had the program rights for all, programs filled with costly luxury advertising which he furnished to producers free. This revenue was the basis of his fortune. At top season today there are less than 20 productions on the boards. Many believe in another season or so the list will be thinned to a dozen.

Gag: Frank and Berthe Case were recently invited to spend the week-end at the country place of Percy Waxman, well-known magazine editor. In the guest room and the bath adjoining Mrs. Case noticed several towels on which were unmistakably the Algonquin hotel mark. She politely pretended not to notice this and tried to distract her husband's attention, but there was no hiding the fact. To make it just a little more horrible, upon retiring it was discovered that the sheets and pillow cases on the beds were from their hotel. Not until they returned to their hotel did they learn that Waxman had connived with an assistant manager to borrow the linen for the sole purpose of shocking his guests.

My notion of high in jobs is that of a clerk at the newsstand in a large railroad terminal, such as Grand Central or Pennsylvania. To sit on a high stool with a commanding view of the swirl of crowds—there's an especial glamour reserved for travelers—is excitement enough for anyone, but added to that is to have all the latest periodicals and freshest newspaper editions at elbow. But one man's meat is another man's poison indeed. One of the fortunate holders of such a job tells me he never reads a magazine and scans only the headlines of newspapers. As for crowds, they make him sick.

HEALTH
By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

BLOOD-TINGED SPUTUM

MOST PERSONS dread the sight of blood. In fact, there are some who faint at the slightest appearance of blood.

Dr. Copeland

It is easy to understand how the presence of blood in the sputum is a sign of tuberculosis, or consumption. The mere mention of consumption is in itself sufficient to arouse a great deal of anxiety.

Merely because a trace of blood has been seen in the sputum is no reason to believe that you are a sufferer from tuberculosis. It is true that some victims of this dreaded disease expectorate blood, or have blood-tinged sputum. But the presence of blood in the sputum may be due to one of many things. It is not in itself a sign of tuberculosis.

If you have ever suffered from a severe cough, pharyngitis or laryngitis, undaubtedly you have noticed an occasional trace of blood in the sputum. This is merely the result of congestion, inflammation, or perhaps a slight break in the tissues of the throat. Sufferers from tonsilitis or bronchitis will occasionally expectorate some blood-tinged sputum.

Common With Coughers

This symptom is rather common among chronic coughers. The presence of blood in cases of this sort can be accounted for by the severe coughing, with strain and the rupture of a small blood vessel.

Often blood in the sputum can be traced to faulty bridge work. A loose tooth, or a broken tooth cutting the tongue, may cause slight bleeding which will stain the sputum. It may also be caused by a mild nose bleed with dropping of the blood back into the throat; when it is discharged from the mouth it may discolor the saliva.

In spite of all these explanations, it is best to consult with a doctor if you repeatedly notice blood in the sputum. He can quickly determine the cause and source of the blood. Do not worry about the condition but seek medical advice and determine the actual cause.

Never assume the responsibility of determining the cause of blood in the sputum. Any abnormality requires expert attention. You can get this only from your doctor who has spent years in preparation for his life work, and is trained to detect disease.

Answers to Health Queries

J. E. S. Q—I suffer from terrible gas pains—what can be done to overcome this condition? 2: What treatment will relieve a blood clot partly covering the eye? Is this serious?

A—Proper attention to the diet and elimination should give you increased comfort and relief. For full information send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question. 2: See your doctor for examination and odvice. He will be glad to give you full information after examining the eye.

MEMBER FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK SYSTEM

LOOK BOTH WAYS

January is the time to look both forward and backward.

January is named for the old Roman god Janus who had two faces, one face looking back into the past, the other face looking forward into the future.

The saver in search of an institution in which to place his savings should look back at the record which the institution has made and should also look forward into its future prospects.

For the past, in nearly half a century, money left with this institution has been safely kept and has produced a profitable return—never less than three per cent.

For the future, there is assurance of the same careful management that has prevailed in the past, plus the added protection of Federal insurance on all accounts up to Five Thousand Dollars.

Services In Our Churches

Emmanuel Lutheran Services Tomorrow Listed By Minister

Services tomorrow at the Emmanuel American Lutheran church, 291 South Broadway, as announced by Rev. John Bauman, pastor, are as follows:

Sunday school at 9 a. m. Lee Schaefer, superintendent. The pastor's Bible class meets at 9:15.

Divine worship services at 10 a. m. The pastor's sermon theme is, "God's Holy Name."

May the preaching of the Word of God bring to you in this new year a full measure of the Spirit of God with strength and courage for the way that lies ahead. May the habit of regularity in attendance at the services of the Lord become universal.

German services at 11 a. m.

"Tempus Fugit"

Here we are eight days of the new year gone. It seems but yesterday when the year began, and now we have traveled through a part of it already. Some of the good resolutions which were made at the start are broken and cast aside already. Surely we must realize that time flies.

Have you been thinking of doing something particularly for your new worker? Do it now. Delay may mean defeat for your purpose. Have you felt the need of spiritual quickening and strength, seek it now; tomorrow may be too late. The days are passing one by one in quick succession. We ought to bind them together with serious purpose and sound principle. Dr. Maclean of Princeton university used to make these remarks to his students once per year: "Foremost seek the life of the soul; for if this soul is lost, everything is lost. Secondly, study the health of the body, for an invalid can not utilize his mental powers. Thirdly, develop the mind, for by that man can elevate himself. Lastly seek recreation and pleasure, that it may promote the efficiency of your work."

That is good advice. We ought all to follow it. Time is flying. Do it now. If you want your soul to live feed it now. If you want health, guard it now. If you want a strong mind, develop it now. If you need recreation, do not wait until it is too late. Remember that, "time and tide wait for no man."

Announcements

"A New Discovery Of Jesus" Topic For Rev. Magann

"A New Discovery of Jesus" is the subject of the sermon which will be preached by Rev. S. Talmage Magann at the morning worship service of the First Baptist church tomorrow.

Complete services for the church follow:

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school. Elwood Hammel, superintendent.

10:45 a. m.—Morning worship with sermon.

6:30 p. m.—Young peoples service.

7:30 p. m.—Evening service with sermon lon the subject "When God Repented."

The school of Christian living will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. The study will be on "What Baptists Believe" and "Better Churches."

Christian Science Society Services

"Sacrament' is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow.

The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WHK, Cleveland, the second and fourth Sundays of month.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. while on Wednesday the midweek service is held at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text is: "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (1 Corinthians 10:16).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled" (Mathew 5:6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds" (p 4)

Services Arranged For Salvation Army

English Lutheran Members Observe Communion Sunday

The Sacrament of the Holy Communion will be celebrated at the morning worship service of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church tomorrow, the first Sunday after Epiphany.

Complete services for the church are as follows:

Sunday school, 9:45 (Mark 1:13). Charles W. Youtz, superintendent.

A life without service in it is very much of an empty life. No one has been placed upon this earth without some plan and purpose that they shall better and improve this life for having been here. No one can ever hope to be of the highest and noblest service without being trained and prepared for this purpose. Some of the most unselfish of servants have labored on and given of their best without just compensation, yet they never faltered. The greatest of all servants came to earth and was rejected of men and received for his pay, the cross of Calvary. A life of service brings the highest type of joy and satisfaction.

Morning worship, 11. "Divine Business"; public confession of sins,

"The demands of business are many. It is a strenuous life that commerce exacts of its servants. The business world has always had for its laborers some of the finest and most capable of men and women. The world is beset with the many toils of big business. Yet there is no bigger business than that of the Kingdom of God. It has outlined all other of the business of man. It is concerned not only with the present but with the far future. Not only has it physical interests but its main concern is the spiritual affairs of God's eternal Kingdom."

Luther league, 6:30. Devotional topic, "Is conscience a safe guide?"; leader, Ray Herman.

List Subject Of Tabernacle Talk

The message chosen by Rev. M. R. Searles for the morning service at the Lighthouse Tabernacle tomorrow is: "The Fullness of the Blessing of Christ," taken from Romans 15:29.

Statement of the sermon: "The Apostle Paul reveals to us in his letter to the Romans that religion to him was not cold formalism, or a mere profession. To him it was not something to endure but something to enjoy. He had found a blessing in religion that stayed with him. There is today the same living reality in the religion of Jesus Christ if we desire it. God wants us all to actually live as St. Paul, in the Fullness of the Blessing."

What the fullness of the blessing is and how it may be received will be explained in Rev. Searles' morning message at 10:45.

Sunday school will open at 9:45 a. m.

Evening evangelistic service will start at 7:45 p. m. The sermon will be by the pastor on the subject "Only One Step." A cordial welcome is extended visitors.

GLOBE, Ariz. — Little Billy Self, 9, reached into infinity for his lunch pail. The youngster toppled into a 150-foot canyon as he stooped to retrieve the object which he dropped while walking home from school. He died instantly.

They Escaped Devil's Island

Francois Freu and Ramound Vaude are pictured receiving the handshakes and best wishes of a crowd at San Juan, Puerto Rico, before sailing for Haiti in a 25-foot skiff in which they escaped three months ago from Devil's Island. Two others, with whom they had sailed, went ashore and were detained for deportation to their homes in France and Italy.

Report Activities Of Sheriff's Office

LISBON, Jan. 8. — The sheriff's office investigated 387 calls during 1937, including 62 auto accidents, a report completed Friday by Deputy Sheriff John Herman states.

A total of 71 arrests was made during the year by Sheriff Harry Gosney and his aides. Crimes investigated by the office included one first degree murder case—that of Johannes Borgwardt serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for slaying Mrs. Ruth Cranston last August.

Other felonies and misdemeanors in which the department made arrests are: larceny, two; auto theft, eight; burglary, six; driving while intoxicated, eight; intoxication, 12; intent to defraud, one; robbery, seven; drunk and disorderly, four; assault and battery, three; reckless driving, nine; gambling, four; threatening to kill, one; suspicion, one.

The office solved 15 cases through fingerprints during the year, taking 645 criminal prints and 235 civilian records. The latter are made up of citizens who voluntarily submitted to this type of registration for identification purposes.

The department recovered 23 stolen cars and returned them to their owners in 1937. Nearly 3,000 persons visited the jail during the year—2,033 calling on prisoners and 655 inspecting the 99 year old structure.

Municipalities in the county sent 508 prisoners to jail during the period covered by the report.

Wagner Advanced

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8. — G. H. Wagner, managing director of the Pittsburgh branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, was advanced today to vice president at the main office here under changes designed by E. S. Burke, Jr., chairman of the board of directors.

Theater Attractions

Bob Burns, Joel McCrea and Henry O'Neil in a scene from "Wells Fargo," showing at the State theater Sunday through Tuesday.

"Wells Fargo", starring Joel McCrea and Frances Dee, will be the attraction at the State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The immense cast of the epic, which is already being named among 1938's best films, includes Bob Burns, Lloyd Nolan, Porter Hall, Ralph Morgan, Mary Nash, Henry O'Neill, John Mack Brown, Robert Cummings and many others.

Railway express history is told brilliantly and dramatically with all of the vivid events in United States history from 1844 to 1870 portrayed. Against the background of the young country's unfolding history and the opening of a great railroad empire is the love story of Joel McCrea and Miss Dee, who is Mrs. Joel McCrea in private life.

Begins As Messenger

McCrea is seen as a young express messenger of 1844 who attains greatness with the development of transportation; Bob Burns as a plainsman whose duty it is to blaze the trail westward for communications; Miss Dee, daughter of an aristocratic southern family, who becomes the bride of McCrea and mother of his two children.

The Wednesday-only feature at the State theater will be "Hitting a New High", the new Lily Pons picture. Jack Oakie, John Howard, Eric Blore, Edward Everett Horton and Eduardo Ciannelli have prominent roles.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday the State will offer the much publicized comedy, "nothing Sacred", which features Carole Lombard, Fredric March, Charles Winninger and Walter Connolly.

Last showings of "Love and Hisses", featuring Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie, Simone Simon and others, will be seen tonight at the State theater.

Youngsters in Lead Roles

Jackie Cooper is seen in an "almost grown up" part in the excellent film, "Boy of the Streets", at the Grand Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Young Maureen O'Connor shares top billing with Cooper, who is seen as a 16-year old tenement boy who joins up with a gangster.

However, he realizes he is off on the wrong foot when he witnesses a cowardly attack by the gangsters on his boyhood friend, Policeman Rourke. He joins the navy realizing that it will teach him honor and discipline.

Also in the cast are Marjorie Main, whose characterization as the mother of Humphrey Bogart in "Dead End" won her star rating; Kathleen Burke, Gordon Eliott, Matty Fain, Guy Usher and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

A double bill at the Grand theater Wednesday and Thursday presents "Trapped by G-Men", with Jack Holt and Wynne Gibson; and "She Loved a Fireman", with Ann Sheridan, Dick Foran and Robert Armstrong.

The favorite western actor, Buck Jones, returns to the Grand Friday and Saturday in "Hollywood Roundup", which also features Grant Withers, Helen Twelvetrees and Shemp Howard.

Concluding tonight at the Grand is "The Trigger Trio" featuring the Three Mesquiteers, Ray Corrigan, Max Terhune and Ralph Byrd.

Volume Lost Since 1901, Returned To Syracuse Library

Mrs. Ross Helman of W. Eighth st. is in possession of a letter today from Paul M. Paine, head of the Syracuse, N. Y., public library, thanking her for the return of a book which had been missing from the library shelves since 1901.

The book, a copy of "Grimm's Fairy Tales," was found by Mrs. Helman recently when she and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown of Ohio ave., were rummaging through some old books at her mother's home. It was borrowed from the library 36 years ago by Harold Brown, a brother of Mrs. Helman's, who is now a florist in Syracuse.

Upon making the discovery, Mrs. Helman promptly returned the book to the Syracuse library and, oddly, her act was performed during the nation-wide observance of "Return-a-Book" week.

The book had been mislaid when the Brown family moved to Salem in 1901 and it was not until the recent discovery that its presence in the home was known.

In response to her act, Mrs. Helman received the following letter from the Syracuse library:

"Not so much on account of the value of the book itself, which has seen its best days, but because of your generous interest I want to thank you very sincerely for your trouble and to wish you a happy and a very prosperous New Year.

"Please let me return the amount which you spent for stamps in sending this book back to us."

School News At Damascus

The Freshman class of the home economics class is experimenting with yeast by making refrigerator rolls and bread.

The classes are preparing for their quilt show Jan. 20. Each home economic student is writing an article on a certain period and visited the Salem library Thursday to find material to use in the script.

These will include the time from the landing of the Pilgrims to the present time. These will be read at the program given at the time of the quilt show.

Music will be furnished by the High School Glee club and the High school orchestra under the direction of Wentz Alspaugh, music director.

Mr. Alspaugh will compose some of the music, and old time melodies will be played. The annual hobby show will be held at the same time. Prizes will be awarded for the best quilts, bedspreads and afghans, and hobbies will receive ribbons.

Members of the sophomore class are serving hot lunches this week in charge of Verna Stoffer. The freshman class will serve hot lunches next week.

Junior and senior classes are working on home projects. Some are fixing up their bedrooms and making furniture for them. They have completed an interesting unit on children's clothing.

Each girl has made one or two children's dresses. Anna Mae Sanor has finished a becoming black dress for herself; and Kathleen Summers has made a skirt and blouse outfit.

Jan. 14, two films are coming to the home economics class, to be shown in the auditorium.

The movie projector, for which the students sold magazines, arrived Tuesday.

The semester examinations will be given Thursday and Friday of next week.

The eighth number of the "Miss Print" will be issued Friday.

Plan Roving Courts

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 8.—A system of "roving" courts to punish Pennsylvania traffic speeders will open in 11 districts Monday, with three dozen offenders facing possible loss of their drivers' licenses for at least 90 days.

Governor George H. Earle authorized the speeders court in his decree that all drivers going more than 50 miles an hour should be punished.

"GIVE HER WINGS" by MARIE BLIZARD

SYNOPSIS

When Julie Allerdyce, 19-year-old daughter of Professor Allerdyce of the Ramsey Preparatory School for Boys, manages to get herself engaged to Dr. Richard Jessup, Fayette's most eligible bachelor, she looks forward to a glamorous future as a married woman. Of course, most people in town had thought Dick would marry Millicent Dodd who is 33 while he is 38, but Millicent hides her disappointment and gives an engagement party for Julie. Less tactful is Tommy Jessup, Dick's younger brother. He is still in college, and has always loved Julie. He tells her she will be sorry if she spoils four lives by marrying Dick. Julie tells Tommy to mind his business, but in less than six weeks she begins to find being engaged is boring. It is then she remembers the words of Pete Waddell, barnstorming aviator who gives flying lessons at a neighboring field. He had told her there was a great future in flying for a beautiful girl. She makes a trial flight with Waddell and decides she will learn to be a flyer. But the course costs a hundred dollars. Julie borrows the money from Millicent Dodd. In the class, Julie notes there is one other girl, Rita Cartright.

"I think you are going to be a wonderful teacher," Julie said admiringly.

CHAPTER XI

Julie returned her attention to Waddell.

"Before we get through, we'll have taken up level flight, minimum glides and maximum climbs, turns and recovery from stalls, skids, slips, spirals and banks. We'll have fun, and we'll begin lesson one with an introduction to parts."

Julie's attention had wandered again to the other girl: where did she get the money for this course?

Waddell commanded their attention. He got off the table and picked up a long pointer, pointed it at a diagram and said what was quite obvious. "These are the wings, the main supporting surfaces of an airplane. Notebooks please. There are a lot of things to know about wings."

It surprised Julie to learn that a plane may have one or more wings. It was very complicated. An automobile had four wheels and that was that. But a girl couldn't achieve fame and fortune driving an automobile. For the next hour Julie listened carefully, made notes.

At the end of the hour, Waddell said, "We'll review this on Friday and go on to the fuselage."

The class got to its feet. Julie smiled shyly at Warman, her redheaded neighbor.

"Sounds complicated to a beginner," he said encouragingly. "But it's easy to get on to it."

"It'll be more fun when we get to fly," Julie said not meaning a word of it. "What...what are you planning to do?"

"I haven't made up my mind. It's a little too early to know that," he answered excitedly. "It's a big field. There's the air mail, transcontinental piloting, aerial photography, traffic agenting."

Julie suddenly remembered that she hadn't any more than a vague picture of herself receiving the press after a sensational flight. Of what kind of a flight she hadn't the remotest conception. And she was not content as Red Warman was to wait and see what turned up.

The others had left the hangar. She lingered. Waddell was rolling up the diagrams. He was seemingly oblivious of her slow progress toward him.

Julie's respect for him had increased. He wore the aura of importance his role as teacher had given him. Momentarily Julie felt hesitation. It soon passed. He was only a man, another means to her end.

"I think you're going to be a wonderful teacher," she said softly, admiringly.

"What? Oh! It's you! Well, let's wait until the course is finished before you give teacher his diploma."

Julie's eyes widened, hurt darkening in them. "Oh—I'm sorry. I didn't think you'd take it that way."

He grinned at her. "Think like a man, Spitfire, and act like yourself and you'll get along. But remember that the essentials can't hurt you. The more knowledge a woman has and the less obvious she is with it, the farther she'll go."

Julie's fingers played with the papers on his desk. She dropped her eyes. "I guess you don't think I'm very smart."

He laughed spontaneously. "Not much! A fox isn't smart, is he? You know what you want and my money goes on any girl that gets as far as that. Besides, I wouldn't have taken your money if I hadn't thought I could teach you something. It's not hard to learn to fly, you can do it."

"Look," she said, forgetting to be the pupil at her teacher's feet. "Just what happens when it's over?"

He scratched his head. Then he shook it. "Come on, Earhart, we'll talk it over while we have a cigaret and a cup of coffee."

There was a hot dog stand at the side of the road by the field. Julie, starved by the long wait since breakfast, the drive out to the field and all the excitement, eyed the hot dogs hungrily and said she only wanted coffee. Pete Waddell wasn't going to think she was more interested in food than in a career.

"What is there for a woman to do?" she persisted.

"You might be an air hostess."

"How?" she inquired, businesslike.

"Well, that's a long story but ot seems to be a job most girls want. You meet a lot of important people travelling on planes. Some of them marry millionaires."

Julie's eyes were covered by her long lashes.

"What does a hostess do?"

"Oh, she makes up the beds on sleepers, feeds the customers, rocks babies to sleep, holds basins under chins, puffs up pillows....."

"A servant," she said contemptuously.

"All depends on how you look at it. She gets around a hundred and twenty a month, wears a snappy uniform, meets millionaires....."

A hundred and twenty a month! That settled it. Miss Allerdyce wasn't going to suffer the tortures of flying for any such sum as that even if she would meet millionaires. She wanted to ask Pete why he had misled her when he said she had a future but she saw that he was laughing at her.

She tacked her sails. There was no need to prod him now. She knew how to enlist his sympathy, make him become interested in her as a personality, not as a pupil. She could bide her time.

"I am hungry," she said. I'm starved!"

"Good! A couple of weenies, boy, and rush 'em."

A long, sleek roadster swung off the field onto the road, slowed up and came to a stop a hundred yards away. The Cartright girl was at the wheel. She turned and backoned to Waddell.

Julie watched him run toward the car, pretending that her attention was fixed on a point beyond it. she estimated the worth of the car, and quickly rearranged her values of her sister-class-mate.

She poured sugar from a shaker into Waddell's coffee when he returned. "She's awfully attractive," she said, "Who is she?"

"A good gal for you to know. That's Rita Cartright. Her old man's the utilities king. They've got a hunting lodge out here. The whole family's bugs on flying and usually have a lot of big shots around. You might get next to her."

Julie had already decided to do that.

Eyes Again Are on Dewey

"Lucky" Luciano

Jean Bell—witness

Law enforcing agencies throughout the United States are observing New York City, where racket-busting Thomas E. Dewey has taken over the district attorneyship. Dewey, made famous by his relentless war on crime during his service as special rackets prosecutor, is expected to continue his disclosures, and to score additional convictions. Chief among his "victims" has been Charles "Lucky" Luciano, Manhattan vice lord, who was sent to prison for from 30 to 50 years after Dewey got Jean Bell and others to testify against him.

Medicine faces 1938 with renewed hope in the fight to save human life from the ravages of virus diseases of which infantile paralysis is regarded as the chief offender. Dr. Jean Broadhurst of Columbia, who recently discovered the virus of measles, has spurred the search for viruses of other ailments. Another important advance has been accomplished against diabetes, with the discovery of Dr. Szent Gyorgyi, Nobel prize winner, that insulin can be administered orally. Improvement of nasal sprays, obtained by experiments with rhesus monkeys, promises protection against infantile paralysis which annually has cut down many children.

DOVER'S LAST QUARTER SPURT BEATS QUAKERS

Don Groh Loops Field Goal In Last Minute Of Play To Bring Dover 32-30 Victory

Quakers Hold Lead Throughout Most Of Game, But Crumble Before Crimson's Fourth-Period Spurt; Groh Is Sparkplug Of Closing Rally

The sting of defeat, and a mighty mean one too, was felt by Coach Herb Brown's Salem High school Quakers for the first time of the 1937-38 season last night when they fell before Dover's Crimson five, 32 to 30, in a rough and fast-moving contest at the American Legion gym in Dover.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Quakers, who saw victory slip from their grasp in the final minute of play after holding the lead throughout the first, second, third and most of the fourth quarters.

A field goal by Don Groh in the last minute of action gave Dover its victory. The Quakers had no chance to rally after Groh's fatal shot.

Groh was the sparkplug of a last-quarter spurt which pulled Dover out of what appeared to be certain defeat.

Trailing the Quakers by seven points as they went into the final stanza, the Crimson cagers staged a rally which saw them score 12 points to Salem's three and pul the victory out of the fire in the closing minute of action.

Displaying deadly accuracy from the right side of the court, Groh scored nine of his team's points in the last quarter. He began hitting in the last four minutes of play and hooped three straight field goals and a foul to tie the count at 30-30.

With less than 45 seconds to play, Groh broke loose near the side of the court, took a pass from a teammate, and sent the ball swishing through the netting for the winning points.

Things looked mighty rosy for the Quakers up until the time Groh started his one-man performance.

The Red and Black cagers pulled into the lead early in the first quarter and held the advantage until the last two minutes when one of Groh's side shots found the network to tie the score at 30-30.

The Quakers held the lead at the close of the first, second and third quarters. They were out in front, 0 to 6, at the end of the first stanza, 17 to 15 at halftime and 27 to 20 at the end of the third frame.

On two occasions, once in the second quarter and again in the third period, it appeared as though the contest was a walk-away for the Red and Black lads.

Mid-way in the second period, Brown's cagers held a 17 to 10 lead and seemed headed for a one-sided triumph. Dover rallied, however, and pulled to within two points of the Quakers before halftime.

In the third quarter, the Quakers appeared certain to have victory in their grasp when they outscored Dover 10 points to five to gain a 27 to 20 edge. This advantage disappeared in Dover's final rally.

Rough action throughout the game produced poor ball-handling and floor work on the part of both teams. The Quakers, especially, were the victims of exceptionally rough tactics under the basket.

Poor foul shooting was displayed by the Quakers for the second time in three games as they converted only six of 15 free throws. Dover, on the other hand, made 10 of its 14 foul shots.

The Quakers lost the services of Ollie Olexa in the fourth quarter when he was ousted for committing too many fouls. Max Lutsch and Bill Schaeffer each had three fouls chalked up against them while Groh, Swinderman and Maurer of Dover were credited with a like number.

Lutsch, Schaeffer and Groh played the second half without committing a foul after having three fouls called against them in the first half.

Groh was hight point man for Dover, combining the nine points he made in the final quarter with four he made in other periods for a total of 13. Olexa led the Quakers in scoring with nine points.

The Quaker reserves also came out on the short end of the score in the preliminary game with Dover reserves, dropping the verdict, 30 to 19.

The Quaker secondaries put up a good showing until late in the ast quarter when they faltered and permitted Dover to go far out in front. Galen Duncan tallied seven points for high scoring honors among the Red annd Black reserves. Russ Luthy hooped 12 points to lead Dover.

The Red and Black cagers will be offered a chance to bounce back into the victory column tonight when they meet Youngstown Chaney on the local court. The varsity game will start at 9 o'clock.

Damascus Girls Defeat Springfield; Boys' Team Loses

DAMASCUS, Jan. 8. — Goshen Township High school basketball teams broke even in games at Petersburg last night, the Goshen girls winning over Springfield Township lassies, 13 to 5, and the Goshen boys losing to Springfield lads, 31 to 22.

Mollenkoff and Schwartz led the Springfield boys to their triumph, scoring 13 and 10 points respectively. Springfield outscored Goshen in every period and held a 14 to 10 lead at halftime.

Ellis, substitute guard, was high point man for Goshen with eight markers.

Burton tallied six points to lead the Goshen lassies to victory. Schiller scored all of Springfield's points.

Women Grapplers Take Mud Bath, But Not For Beauty

Feminine Grunt And Groan Artists Wrestle In Oozy Slime On Akron Mat Card

By REX HESS

AKRON, Jan. 8.—Mildred Burke, Kansas City's comely five-foot-two claimant of the women's lightweight and welterweight world's wrestling championships, grinned through mud-reddened eyes today and declared: "Sure I'd do it again."

Mildred defeated "Babe" Gordon of Chicago last night in what was advertised by Promoter Carl A. Singleton as the first woman's mudbath wrestling match in the history of the mat game.

For 15 minutes and 20 seconds, the two young women slipped, slithered, splashed and sprawled in four inches of oozy loam slime. They threw great gobs of the muck at each other, and rubbed it in each other's hair—to the delight of a howling crowd of 2,500 fans.

Occasionally one or the other came through with a flying mare or a body slam, but mostly they could only dive and try for holds on slippery mud covered bodies.

Mildred won with a body press which means she sprawled over the recumbent "Babe" in the bed of mud. Mud soaked Referee Ernie Madduck of Cleveland, who did a lot of splashing himself, patted Mildred on the back. He too had enough.

"It was fun," Mildred laughed. "The only thing wrong with it was getting mud in your eyes. I found the secret of that, but too late. No matter what calls first, keep your head up always."

The disgusted "Babe," who continued to battle after her opponent had been declared winner, didn't agree. "It was no fun. I can tell you that," she asserted.

TROTTING DUE FOR BIG YEAR WRITER SAYS

Trotting Club Chairman Sees Good Season Coming Up

BY E. ROLAND HARRIMAN
Chairman, Trotting Horse Club

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The American trotting sport, both in its amateur and professional aspects, has once more come into its own. The past season proved that to a greater degree than most of us predicted when 1937 was launched. And while it is usually the "good, old days" for which many pine, it is the current and future days of a thoroughly revitalized sport that interest us now.

It was only several short years ago, during the depression, trat the Grand Circuit contained but eight and nine meetings. These were not particularly well attended and the purses were unappealing

Today, we can look back on the last year's 12 Grand Circuit meetings and 14 weeks of racing, both of which are above the 1936 record, and predict with confidence that 1938 will beat all of its predecessors.

The sport of training and racing trotters and pacers has not increased in popularity, however, because of any hidden reason or fluke. We have been developing a new sport, with all of the best qualities of its ancient and honorable past merged with new aspects of keener interest to the general public and the amateur who can train and race his or her mount in person.

The public, after all, is our first consideration, even though the light harness turf is not as commercialized a sport as some. Last season, remarkable strides were made under new rules promulgated by the Trotting Horse club. In 1938, these regulations are certain to work even better, with the minor errors of 1937 already corrected.

Prices paid for yearlings at the recent Old Glory auction in New York are as good a barometer of 1938 as any of many available today. Total sales climbed $16,630 over 1936 and in the face of an economic recession.

Attendance in 1937 gained 30 per cent and purses rose to within close range of $3,000,000 for the entire country. These gains, which we might have thought impossible of accomplishment several years ago, are definitely here and provide an insight into what the next year will be like from coast to coast.

The development of amateur racing by both men and women is probably the greatest single advancement made by the harness of devotees, with the establishment of the new training and racing track at Aiken, S. C., leading the field in providing an ideal introduction to the game.

We can except further gains in 1938 on the Grand Circuit, as well as throughout the country on all large and small racing loops; progress among the amateur and matinee racing groups is assured; purses are steadily mounting as horses' records go down; improvement within the sport itself to cater to th public's desire for a fast and colorful show is certain to cement and increase the gains in attendance made in 1937.

Goodman Slated To Head Walker Cup Golf Squad

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—In further endorsement of his position as the country's leading amateur golfer, National Champion Johnny Goodman was slated today to be named by the United States Golf association the No. 1 man of the 1938 Walker cup team.

Announcement of the team's makeup formed the major part of the business before the annual meeting of the U. S. G. A.

Goodman, who won the U. S. title at Portland, Ore., last summer after eight years of trying, ranked at the top of the list of candidates for ten positions on the squad that meets the British at St. Andrews, Scotland, June, 3-4.

Close behind him were Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, whom Omaha Johnny succeeded as champion; Ray Billows, former New York State champion from Poughkeepsie who took Goodman the full 36 holes in the amateur final, and Frank Strafaci, 1935 public links champion and consistent low scorer in medal-play tournaments.

Billows and Strafaci, if elected will be making their debuts in the biennial competition. Other "rookies" prominent in the speculation were Charles Koosis, Willie Turnesa, Fred Haas, Wilford Wehrle, Roger Kelly, Marvin Ward and Paul Leslie.

Most likely repeaters from the 1936 team which, with Goodman and Fischer as two of its stars routed the invaders at Pine Valley, N. J., were Reynolds Smith, Charley Yates, and two Northwesterners, Albert (Scotty) Campbell and Harry Givan.

Besides naming the Walker cuppers, U. S. G. A. delegates also were to elect officers with Archibald M. Reid succeeding John G. Jackson as president; approve the year's championship schedule, and possibly discuss the results of a special survey devoted to the stymie.

BOWLING RESULTS

Increasing their lead in the Federal Bowling league from seven to nine games, Demings won three heats from the National Sanitary Office in one of four league matches at the Matonic temple alleys last night.

Two defeats handed the National Sanitary Shop by the Columbiana County Engineers aided Demings in increasing their lead. The Shop team is in second place.

The Natural Gas Co. and Salem News came out on top in other matches at the Masonic temple alleys two out of three from the Elec-tric Furnace and the Newsies taking two out of three from Brownie's Amoco Gas.

TOLEDO SPANKS MUNCIE CAGERS

High-Scoring Chuckovits Guarded By 3 Players But Still Romps

They tried to stymie Toledo university's irrepressible Charley Chuckovits last night, but the keen-eyed forward garnered a dozen points to help his quintet to a 47 to 35 interstate victory over the Ball State basketeers of Muncie, Ind.

Three men romped hither and yon to Chuckovits' speedy tempo, a squad-of-three assigned to keep the brilliant forward from flirting with the basket—yet he caged four goals from the court and added four free throw markers.

For the first time in many moons a teammate, Center Swihart, eclipsed Chuckovits in the scoring column. Swihart sank six goals and a gift shot for a total of 13.

The Rockets piled up a 25 to 15 half-time lead. A complete team of Rocket reserves finished the battle.

Bowling Green's current victory march continued at the expense of a hard-fighting Mount Union contingent, 42 to 40. The count was tied four times in the opening period.

Xavier university trounced Wittenberg, 37 to 27, at Cincinnati to end a four-game losing streak. Case School of Applied Science cagers took their initial Ohio conference tilt also by a 37 to 27 rally, routing a fast John Carroll team.

Western Reserve defeated Baldwin-Wallace, 40 to 32, in another Cleveland contest. The loss ended a four-game string of victories for the Bereans. Wilmington dropped its first game of the season to the Akron university Zippers, 43 to 26, at the Rubber City.

Bethany college of West Virginia romped over Hiram, 44 to 34, in the first intercollegiate cage contest for both quintets.

In a fast over-time battle at West Liberty, W. Va., the West Liberty Teachers nosed out Youngstown College, 30 to 29. At Cleveland, the Ohio College of Chiropody humbled Penn State Extension school, 42 to 18.

FRED APOSTOLI POUNDS STEELE FOR FIGHT WIN

San Franciscan Wins By Technical K. O. Over Middy Champion

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 — Fred Apostoli, swarthy San Franciscan, has ripped and torn the middleweight champions of two continents into bleeding, reeling helplessness, and he still has nothing more tangible to show for it than the championship of California.

Some three and a half months ago he scored a tchnical knockout over bald Marcel Thil, champion of Europe, but Thil's title at the time was stored safely in Paris, along with France's other treasuries.

Last night the former bellhop gave classic Freddie Steele such a savage beating in the Garden that the bout was stopped in the ninth with the American 160-pound king virtually out on his feet, yet it still brought Apostoli only a wild exultation that came nigh bursting his chest.

"I knew I could do it," he yelled. "I've only lived the last three years to get that guy in the ring. Now if he doesn't give me a title fight I'll claim it anyway."

He might jjujsjtj as well start claiming, for Steele, a wreck of a man as he lay in his dressing room, wouldn't even discuss the possibility of a return encounter with the human machine gun, at any weight. Apostoli was forced to come in last night at 161½, so it was no dice.

"I'll never fight in this town again," moaned the battered champion as an ice pack was applied to his lower groin, where a wild Apostoli left caught him in the seventh round. "They wouldn't give me half the bandage I needed for my hands."

The low punch alone clouded Apostoli's victory. It clearly was accidental, but it took a lot out of Steele. Referee Arthur Donovan held up the battle fully 10 seconds, an unprecedented action here, until Steele had recovered sufficiently to go on. Later, he blamed the punch for his defeat.

It was too bad it had to happen, because it marred somewhat a great fight, one that kept 8,000 fans screaming.

Steele was the perfect boxer, the sharpshooter, cool and quiet. Apostoli crowded into him, snarling and cursing in the clinches, and throwing the heavier punches. As early as the second round he staggered Steele with a right and twice beat him into the ropes. He gave the champion another bad beating in the third, but Steele never ceased fighting back. But at the outset of the eighth, Apostoli clipped him with a staggering left, and then, by actual count, measured the dazed champion with 51 more lefts and rights to the head before the bell finally sounded. It looked like Steele's head would be torn off, but he refused to go down. The crowd sighed with relief when Donovan stepped between them after 54 more seconds of the same in the ninth.

Ohio Business During Past Year Was Harmed Little By Current National Recession

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—Ohio business approached the new year with forecasts of uncertainty—but with knowledge that 1937 generally surpassed 1936.

Final figures were unavailable, but reports of Ohio State university's bureau of business research and the Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland indicated today:

That the humming activity carrying through mid-summer wrote figures which will not be erased by a recession which developed in the fall and moved into 1938;

That lake shipping, industry generally, employment, pay rolls, electric power, retail trade and bank debits were substantially above 1936 in Ohio.

Construction Up

The construction industry, held by many economists to be the key to recovery, made one of the best showings of any type of Ohio business in 1937 over 1936, preliminary estimates indicated.

Contract awards dropped sharply in October, but the value of contracts in the first 10 months was 34 per cent above 1936 and construction employment was up 50 per cent.

Total employment for the state in the same period was 11 per cent above 1936, but this figure was expected to be lowered when November and December employment reports were completed. Employment in those two months fell far under that in November and December, 1936.

Operations slumped worst in Ohio's basic industries—iron and steel, coal, and rubber—after operations during the first half of the year had risen to near-prosperity heights.

The steel industry will show a national production of about 50 million tons of steel ingots, compared with 54 millions in the record year of 1929 and 46 millions in 1936, said spokesmen for the magazine Steel.

Steel Strikes

Ohio's steel production centers—Cleveland, Lorain, Youngstown, Steubenville, Canton, Portsmouth and Middletown—followed the national trend closely except for curtailment of production during last summer's steel strike, observers reported.

The strike, called by the Steel Workers Organizing committee, (a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate) in an attempt to enforce demands for signed contracts from Republic Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., was Ohio's major labor difficulty of the year. Some 46,000 workers were affected for more than a month at Canton, Massillon, Warren, Cleveland and Youngstown.

The strike began the night of May 25 and lost effectiveness late in June. National guardsmen called out by Gov. Martin L. Davey to preserve the "status quo" were ordered to protect workers later for reopening of the mills when peace negotiations failed.

Surveys indicated most of the men returned to work. Ohio's steel strike toll was five killed.

Other Walkouts

In point of numbers, Ohio's other major walkout was the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. strike at Akron, where about 10,000 employes were idle from March 11 until April 30 over CIO rubber workers' demands for recognition as bargaining agency.

The union gained recognition in a contract which provided a standard work week of not more than 36 hours—believed by some labor observers to be the shortest standard week in a major industry.

Other labor difficulties included laundry and grocery strikes in Cincinnati and a jurisdictional dispute at the Spicer Manufacturing Co. plant in Toledo.

Holiday shopping, based on figures extending until a week before Christmas, generally disappointed retail trade experts, who said failure of "luxury items" to move caused estimates of December business to fall below 1936. For the year, however, retail trade still was expected to be above last year. In Cleveland, for example, preliminary estimates indicated a figure of 9.6 to 10 per cent above 1936, November and December pulling down the 11 per cent margin of the first 10 months.

Federal reserve figures for the first 10 months showed bank debits at 15 per cent over 1936. Dun and Bradstreet recorded Ohio commercial failures as 13 per cent over last year. The state's electric power production was up 9 per cent, according to federal power commission reports.

2,000 Insurgents Give In To Loyals

MADRID, Jan. 8.—The agonies of thirst, of cold and of hunger in embattled Teruel today forced the surrender of more than 2,000 ragged insurgent soldiers and their wailing and weakened women and children.

For 17 days they stood against government guns, fire and dynamite in guerrilla warfare, from building to building through the narrow and twisting streets of the old provincial capital, 160 miles east of Madrid.

A reinforced insurgent army outside the city fought in vain to come to their rescue, and they bowed at last to the hardship of siege against their hideouts in Asuncion hospital and the dynamite-wrecked Santa Clara church.

The unsuccessful rescuing army itself was encountering trouble—230 insurgents were captured during the battle about Muela De Teruel, outside Teruel, the government said.

Mysterious "Mr. D."

Aaron Sharfin

Here is "Mr. D.", mystery man in the Donald L. Robinsons passport tangle, pictured on his way to the office of Lamar Hardy, U. S. district attorney in New York, for questioning. He was identified as Aaron Sharfin, Russian-born resident of the Bronx, and clerk in the Egyptian consulate in New York, who helped obtain the passport of the Robinsons through the office of Tammany County Clerk Albert Marinelli in April, 1936. Mrs. Robinson, also identified as Ruth Marie Rubens, was reported executed by a firing squad in Moscow. There has been no word to the fate of Robinson, but the U. S. government prepared to ask Russia for a full report on the case.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Buying that lifted wheat prices fractionally today was inspired largely by strength in securities. Foreign wheat markets were only slightly higher.

Opening ⅝ to ⅞ higher, May 96-96¼, July 89⅝-90, all wheat contracts soon rose above the previous close. Corn started ¼-½ lower, May 62⅜-½, July 62⅛-¼, and then showed little change.

CALL PAROLEE BEFORE JURY

Elisha Tucker of East Liverpool, Sentenced To Pen After Robbery Here, To Testify

A paroled convict, Elisha Tucker, of East Liverpool, who in July, 1933, robbed Levi Fox's fur warehouse on N. Ellsworth ave., was subpoenaed today to testify before the grand jury at Columbus, investigating irregularities in the state parole system.

Tucker, who was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the state penitentiary, was paroled August, 1935. However, when arrested again in connection with the theft of lumber from Frank Armstrong, Elkrun township, Tucker was re-committed to the pen as a parole violator.

He has been at liberty now only three months, having been pardoned in October for a second time.

The state intends to question Tucker as to what information he might have obtained on the parole system while he was a prisoner.

Convict Suicide

STOCK MARKET HAS BAD YEAR

Two Years' Gains Wiped Out During Decline Past Autumn

By SMITH REAVIS

NEW YORK—One of the longest "bull" stock markets on record reversed itself in 1937 and in precipitous autumn decline, wiped out most of two years' gains.

Wall street blamed business recession for the fall in prices, and "thinness" of the market—absence of speculative buyers—for the abruptness of some of the downward swings. From mid-August to mid-October approximately 42 per cent was knocked from the average market value of representative shares.

The break really came in March, when stock prices touched their recovery peak. There was a slow easing until the end of June, than a rally that lasted until sellers gained the ascendancy on Aug. 15. After Oct. 19, when a 2-year low was touched, quotations steadied and moved indecisively.

Analysts of the Wall street financial community, looking backward, assert the tip-off to the slump came last winter and early in the spring.

Market Was Up

First of all the market, itself, had been in an exceptional rise. Business likewise, stimulated by various factors including the spending of the soldiers' bonus, government "pump priming" and rumors of inflation, had accelerated the production pace.

Commodity prices pushed upward helter skelter. Industrial output was at its best since 1929, war scares promoted huge armament programs; fears of labor troubles and rising costs induced manufacturers to buy ahead.

Thus inventories piled up, too fast, some economists said, to keep step with consumption. Huge crops were forecast—they were later realized-portending a drop in wheat corn and cotton prices.

Stocks were first to decline. Then in April commodities broke sharply. Government bonds were down under the impact of what some Wall streeters called a "buyers' strike." Yields—returns on the investments—were too low said some of the treasury's obligations.

Overruled!

Justice George Sutherland of the United States Supreme Court objected to the cameraman's motion, but he was respectfully overruled. This picture was snapped at Washington, as he entered his home after the news of his resignation from the bench had been announced.

WASHINGTON — The Sino-Japanese conflict may force United States drug manufacturers to turn to Kashmir, India, for supplies of ma huang, a Chinese grass used in compounding ephedrin, according to the Commerce department.
